

Michal Galazka International Study Day

New Frontiers, New Technologies

An all-day educational meeting to develop future leaders in palliative care, looking at the latest scientific research in the use of technology in health care.

Monday 9 July 2018, 10:00-16:00

Location: Dinwoodie Lecture Theatre, Ground Floor, Cicely Saunders Institute, King's College London, Bessemer Road, London, SE5 9PJ

- 09:30-10:00 Registration & Tea/Coffee
- 10:00-10:05 Welcome & Introduction Professor Irene Higginson
- 10:05-10:35 Using the EHR for research and intervention and enriching the clinical phenotype through smartphones and wearables
Professor Richard Dobson, King's College London
- 10:35-11:05 Digital Consulting: Impact on Health Management, Cost, Safety and Ethics. Professor Jackie Sturt, King's College London
- 11:05-11:20 Tea/coffee
- 11:20-11:50 Technology in palliative and end of life research Professor Bridget Johnston, University of Glasgow
- 11:50-12:20 Permeating barriers: touchless monitoring of vital signs with radar technology in Palliative Care Professor Christoph Ostgathe and Dr Tobias Steigleder, Universitätsklinikum Erlangen, Germany
- 12:20-13:20 Lunch
- 13:20-14:00 Low Tech/High Tech? Palliative Care Needs Both Professor David Currow, University of Technology, Sydney, Australia
- 14:00-14:20 Using mhealth in palliative care in Africa: latest developments
Eve Namisango, Cicely Saunders Institute
- 14:20-14:30 Tea/Coffee
- 14:30-15:00 RADAR-CNS Professor Matthew Hotopf, King's College London
- 15:00-15:30 Routine Data-based Palliative and End of Life Care Research
Dr Gao Wei, Reader, Cicely Saunders Institute
- 15:30-16:00 Round Table Discussion Panel members: Eve Namisango, Christoph Ostgathe, Matthew Hotopf, Irene Higginson

www.csi.kcl.ac.uk

@CSI_KCL

csi.events@kcl.ac.uk

The Michal Galazka Study Day is part of our global leadership programme and is named in honour of Michal Galazka, pioneer of international hospice education.

CPD 117830 (4 credits) Royal College of Physicians

Cicely
Centenary Celebrations

An event series celebrating the centenary of Dame Cicely Saunders, and her continuing contribution to palliative care

Cicely Saunders
International
Better care at the end of life

Celebrating in partnership with

