Applicants with criminal convictions

To help universities and colleges reduce the risk of harm or injury to their students caused by the criminal behaviour of other students, they must know about any relevant criminal convictions that an applicant may have. If you have a relevant criminal conviction, please tick the box. If not, please leave it blank. What is a ‘relevant’ criminal conviction depends on the type of programme you are applying to.

Teaching and ‘Health’ programmes

If you are applying to a programme at King’s to study teaching, health, social work or involving work with children or vulnerable adults, you must tell us about any criminal convictions, including spent sentences and cautions (including verbal cautions) and bind-over orders. Successful applicants to these programmes may also be required to undergo a formal criminal records check. For these programmes of study, you must tick the box if any of the following apply to you:

☐ 1. I have a criminal conviction
☐ 2. I have a spent criminal conviction
☐ 3. I have a caution (including a verbal caution)
☐ 4. I have a bind-over order
☐ 5. I am serving a prison sentence for a conviction

If statement ‘5’ applies to you, a senior prison officer must support your application.

All other programmes

Relevant criminal convictions for all other programmes are only those for offences against the person, whether of a violent or sexual nature, and convictions for offences involving unlawfully supplying drugs or substances where the conviction concerns commercial drug dealing or trafficking.

Convictions that are spent (as defined by the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act (1974), are not considered to be relevant and you should not reveal them. For all other programmes, you must tick the box if either of the following apply to you:

☐ 1. I have a relevant criminal conviction that is not spent
☐ 2. I am serving a prison sentence for a relevant criminal conviction

If statement ‘2’ applies to you, a senior prison officer must support your application.

Criminal convictions and your application

Applicants who tick the box will not automatically be excluded from the application process. However, the College may want to consider the application further or ask for more information before a decision is made. If you have committed a relevant criminal offence after you have applied, you must tell the College as soon as possible.

If you have a relevant criminal conviction, please tick the box:
If you do not, please leave it blank:
