LOVE AND RELATIONSHIPS

19TH NOVEMBER 2018

if a woman asks her husband about what happened in the assembly, he tells her to shut up quiet, as it is none of her business, or 'he'd give me an angry look straightaway and tell me to spin my thread or else he'd see I had a headache for weeks': 'war is for men to take care of''

Pericles in Thucydides Book 2: 'About the virtues of a wife, I can convey my whole message in a brief exhortation: your glory is great if you do not fail to live up to your own nature, and if there is the least possible talk of you among men either for praise or blame.'
