

2020 GEOGRAPHY PHOTOGRAPHY COMPETITION

Category: Foodie

Winner: Alice Wong

Title: Dim sum

Location: Songkhla, Thailand

Description: Vibrant selection of authentic delicacies.

Runner up: Eliana Longo Collins

Title: Market

Location: Stall in Borough Market, London

Description: Winter gourds for sale in Borough Market

Category: City culture

Winner: Jaeran Kim

Title: Mixed feelings

Location: Cartagena, Spain

Description: The city of Cartagena – once a powerful naval port and now a majorly tourism-driven city. Amongst the tourists, are those who have seen it all – from industrial buildings far off the main coastal line, hidden from the landscape, to intricately designed architecture situated at the heart of Cartagena. The city covered in a thick fog with only the most visually appealing exposed in direct sunlight.

Runner up: Valentina Jiménez

Title: Liminal spaces

Location: Tangier, Morocco

Description: A view of the chaotic skyline of Tangier, a landscape that seems to lie in a liminal space.

Category: Climate change

Winner: Sarah Creasy

Title: This is a crisis, we are the change

Location: Westminster

Description: Climate strike, September 2020.

Runner up: Maxwell Clarke

Title: Hidden Buddha

Location: Hong Kong

Description: Under the deep smog in Hong Kong, we can barely make out the historical statue of the Buddha.

Runner up: Eliana Longo Colina

Title: 'Venezia non e' Disneyland' (Translation: Venice isn't Disneyland)

Location: Grand Canal, Venice

Description: A reminder of the beauty of this city and how many people it attracts. A reminder that with current climate predictions, by 2100 it is likely to be completely submerged. Venice is not Disneyland, it and its people deserve respect.

Category: Field trips

Winner: Stefanie Kaupa

Title: Howler monkey hanging from a tree and eating

Location: La Selva Biological research station, Costa Rica

Description: Howler monkey picking a leaf to eat, or possibly just marvelling at the foliage.

Runner up: Zahra Kazi

Title: A wholesome welcome

Location: Alappuzha, Kerala

Description: Enter the place get the place popping – JHUS

Runner up: Heather Needham

Title: Silhouettes in the Sahara

Location: Sahara Desert, Morocco

Description: This photograph was taken on the BSc second year Morocco Fieldtrip. We ate Moroccan tajine, spent a night in the desert and woke up to this breath-taking view!

Category: Landscapes of change

Winner: Diane Stetcu

Title: 1395 vs 2019

Location: Seoul, South Korea

Description: Gwanghwamun, a gate built in 1395, is the main entrance to Gyeongbokgung, the largest palace in the capital city. Cars drive past, tall glass buildings surround the perimeter of the palace, people wear the hanbok (Korea's traditional clothing) whilst using their smartphones – you witness centuries of history within seconds.

Runner up: Eliana Longo Collins

Title: Winter is ending

Location: Caglieron Caves, Fregona, Italy

Description: The snow and ice has almost completely melted away from the sides of the caves, as the seasons in Northern Italy begin to change.

Category: Rural lifestyle

Winner: Zahra Kazi

Title: Stand by your fish

Location: Kochi, Kerala

Description: Fisherman protecting cases of fish that have been caught in a very stylish lungi (skirt).

Runner up: Sophie Lindsay

Title: Grassington Moors Hunt

Location: Grassington, Yorkshire, UK

Description: I took this photo whilst accompanying my father on a grouse shoot in Yorkshire. The heather filled moor is something from a fairytale by anyone's definition.
