I. PURPOSE & SCOPE

This policy sets out the university’s duty to safeguard any child or adult at risk who either applies and is admitted as a student to King’s College London, or who comes into contact with King’s College London activity. It applies to all university staff, students, freelance practitioners, student ambassadors, alumni, volunteers and any associated personnel representing university, including any activity organised and/or delivered by King’s College London, regardless of where the activity takes place and whether it is a part of collaborative provision arrangements.

1 For a definition of ‘associated personnel’, please refer to section 9: Safeguarding in Relation to International Protocol for Projects, Research and Partnerships in Low- and Middle-Income Countries
The university does not act in loco parentis (in place of a parent) for any student or staff member; however, in legal terms we recognise the duty to safeguard the welfare of children and adults at risk, as defined in the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006.

The university recognises that some adults may have an appointed representative e.g. mental health advocate, legal/enduring power of attorney.

This policy does not cover:

- Relationships between staff and students
- Sexual harassment or bullying in the workplace (this is dealt with under the Dignity at King’s – Bullying & Harassment Policy and the Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Policy).

II. DEFINITIONS

King’s College London has a duty of care to safeguard the welfare of both children and adults at risk. These groups can be defined as:

Child/Children: A person/people under the age of 18.

Young People: Children who are 16 or 17 years old.

Adults at Risk: An adult at risk is any person aged 18 or over who is or may be in need of community care services by reason of mental or other disability, age or illness; and who is or may be unable to take care of themself, or unable to protect themself against significant harm or exploitation.

Age of Consent: in the UK, a person can legally consent to sexual activity if they are 16 years old or over. However, it is illegal under the Sexual Offences Act 2003 for an adult in a position of trust to engage in sexual activity with a person under the age of 18. Staff employed by the university are in a position of trust when working with Children and Young People. The Policy for Relationships between Staff and Students outlines the university’s position on relationships between members of staff and students at King’s College.

London. It is intended to ensure that the staff-student relationship is one that is founded on mutual trust and confidence.

Safeguarding: Taking all reasonable steps to prevent harm, particularly sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment from occurring; to protect people, especially adults at risk and children, from that harm; and to respond appropriately when harm does occur. Safeguarding applies consistently and without exception across our programmes, partners, students, volunteers and staff. It requires proactively identifying, preventing and guarding against all risks of harm, exploitation and abuse and having mature, accountable and transparent systems for response, reporting and learning when risks materialise. Those systems must be survivor-centred and also protect those accused until proven guilty.

For the purpose of this document, the ‘university’ is King’s College London. Further definitions on regulated activity and abuse/harm/exploitation can be found in the Safeguarding Glossary.

For the purpose of this document, all references to ‘staff’ include freelance practitioners, alumni, volunteers, and any associated personnel who are acting as representatives or on behalf of the university.

III. POLICY

1. Aims

1.1. This policy sets out the university’s duty to safeguard any child or adult at risk who either applies and is admitted as a student to King’s College London, or who comes into contact with King’s College London activity.

1.2. It provides information to enable staff and students to identify instances in which there are grounds for concern about the welfare of a child or adult at risk, whether arising from home, community or the university environment, and to understand the appropriate actions to take to keep them safe.

1.3. King’s College London is a diverse and predominantly adult learning environment. However, there are circumstances when children (including young people) and adults at risk may interact with staff and students at the university. These include, but are not limited to:
• Teaching, supervision and student support
• Summer schools, school visits, and other events, such as, work experience
• Outreach or widening participating activities taking place on or off campus
• Student Residences
• Research subjects
• Events and Conferences
• Placements and other professional and clinical settings
• Field trips, excursions and other volunteering activities
• International activities, such as, Study Abroad, Clinical placements, Research, and King’s
  Global Health Partnerships

1.4. This policy should be read in conjunction with the university’s policies, procedures and guidelines referred to within the Policy. Specific areas of activity, for example, admission of students, clinical placements, the governance of research, and the organisation of summer schools have local procedures designed to promote safeguarding practices.

1.5. This Policy also supports and interacts with the university’s approach to the Prevent Duty – supporting and safeguarding students who may be at risk of being drawn into terrorism
(Counter-terrorism and Border Security Act 2019). ¹

1.6. For matters relating to activity led by the King’s College London Students’ Union (KCLSU), the KCLSU Designated Safeguarding Officer is the Head of Community Development. Where issues arise that are relevant to the Students’ Union and the university, the organisations will work together to address these issues.

2. Legal Context
2.1. This Policy and related King’s College London procedures are informed by a collection of legislation and guidance on the protection of children and adults at risk. This includes, but is not limited to:

• Children Act 1989
• Children Act 2004

³ See General Academic Regulations
⁴ See the university’s approach to the Duty
3. Responsibilities

University

3.1. The university is responsible for ensuring appropriate policy, procedures, and risk assessment are in place to facilitate effective safeguarding of children and adults at risk. This includes:

- Ensuring all people under the scope of this Policy are formally provided with this document, continue to have access to it, and are familiar with their responsibilities;
- Undertaking due diligence on the safeguarding policies of our funding partners before engaging with them, and support them to improve those if required;
- Ensuring that our contractors understand, accept and are responsible for their, or their employees’ conduct in connection with, or in the vicinity of, vulnerable groups on university premises;
- Ensuring team members receive training on safeguarding at a level commensurate with their role in their organisation.

3.2. The university will take all reports of safeguarding concerns seriously and will act on them promptly and according to due process. Information on the support provided by the university can be found primarily on Student Services Online, Health and Safety, It Stops Here and HR Staff webpages. Please note: there are certain Safeguarding concerns which the university is legally required to report on, such as, forced marriage; any student who is at potential risk of being drawn into terrorism (in line with the university’s obligations under the Prevent Duty)\(^5\); and Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) as a suspected crime.

3.3. The university reserves the right to refuse to admit a child or adult at risk to a programme of study, or other university managed activities, if it judges that the adaptations necessary to safeguard that individual’s wellbeing go beyond what is reasonable and proportionate.

Key Roles

3.4. The university has two Chief Safeguarding Officers (CSOs), Deputy-Chief Safeguarding Officers, Lead Safeguarding Officers (LSOs) and Designated Safeguarding Officers (DSOs). These Officers work with other agencies where appropriate to ensure legal and regulatory compliance and to achieve the aims of this Policy. See Procedure 1 - Safeguarding Roles and Responsibilities for further information and contact details of those in position.

All Staff

3.5. All staff are expected to:

- Be aware of, and comply with, this Policy and the associated Procedures, including any local safeguarding protocols within their specific department or team;
- Undertake training associated with this policy for their role;
- Fully reflect safeguarding responsibilities in event planning and risk assessments for university activities in accordance with Health and Safety procedures. This includes activity that sits outside regular teaching and learning programmes and which involves children or adults at risk;
- Bring to their project/line manager’s attention any concerns or queries over whether their work activities would require them to have an appropriate level of Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks that allows them to work with children and adults at risk;
- Report any concerns, suspicions or information regarding safeguarding violations to appropriate personnel;
- Maintain confidentiality about any suspected or actual incidents involving the university, through the university’s safeguarding reporting system and whistleblowing arrangements, as required. Some staff and students may be required to make use of the safeguarding reporting systems and whistleblowing arrangements in operation in other

\(^5\)Prevent Duty Guidance for Higher Education Institutions in England and Wales workplaces, placement providers and so on, where similar expectations of confidentiality would apply;
• Co-operate fully with internal or external investigations carried out into reported concerns.

Staff and Students in Professional, Clinical and Voluntary Settings, including international

3.6. The university has partnerships with a range of organisations locally, nationally and internationally that have their own policies and reporting procedures for managing safeguarding issues.

3.7. Students and staff members undertaking a professional, clinical or voluntary placement are responsible for familiarising themselves with the safeguarding policy of the organisation. Where a concern arises in such a setting, the safeguarding procedures of that organisation should be followed in the first instance.

3.8. If an individual feels it is inappropriate to make a referral to the provider/employer Safeguarding Officer, they do not feel they have had a satisfactory response, or the organisation does not have established Safeguarding mechanisms in place, the individual should refer directly to the appropriate Lead Safeguarding Officer of King’s College London.

3.9. Students and staff of King’s College London who are based in an international setting for a placement, work or volunteer programme will continue to have access to university support services.

3.10. Students on placements, programmes of study or electives in low- or middle-income countries should familiarise themselves with this Policy, particularly Section 5: Safeguarding in relation to International Projects, Research and Partnerships in Low- and Middle-Income Countries, and Procedure 4: International Protocol.

3.11. Some programmes (e.g. in Law, Health) are required to be registered with or accredited by professional bodies, which impose their own professional standards or fitness-to-practice regulations. For avoidance of doubt, this policy is complementary to, and does not replace, those standards and regulations.
Contractors’ Staff Working on University Premises

3.12. It is the responsibility of the contractor as the employer of staff working on the university’s premises to ensure that each individual has been recruited appropriately to the role they are undertaking, and that Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks have been acquired for all appropriate roles in accordance with the eligibility criteria.

3.13. In line with the university’s duty of care, King’s College London will request confirmation from the employer that each worker requiring a DBS check has had a check at the appropriate level. It is the responsibility of the hiring department to inform the agency that a DBS check is required according to the needs of the post being recruited.

3.14. Any staff of a contractor whose roles give them contact with children or adults at risk in the course of their duties for the university will abide by the safeguarding policy and procedural guidance of the university and may be required to attend appropriate training.

4. Safeguarding Students

4.1. The university takes a risk management approach to Safeguarding when organising learning and teaching and delivery of services to students and the public. University Faculties and Departments are required to carry out a risk assessment in respect of activities that involve children or adults at risk and make reasonable, proportionate adaptations to those activities. A template risk assessment can be found on the Safeguarding Resources webpages.

4.2. Although in terms of Local Authority and legal definitions of vulnerability, the majority of students aged 18 and over will not meet the formal safeguarding threshold, the university takes an enhanced duty of care to all of its students. The university expects that its staff team will ensure that any student experiencing difficulty will be guided to appropriate support services in order that their case can be managed appropriately. This includes but is not limited to: King’s Student Services Online and KCLSU Advice and KCLSU Wellbeing webpages.

Students Under the Age of 18

4.3. An application to study at the university from applicants who will be aged under 18 years before the start of their programme of study will trigger the U18 admittance process. The Young Applicants – Undergraduate/Postgraduate Process flowcharts detail the requirements that need to be satisfied in order for an offer to be made.

4.4. All applicants under the age of 16 must be interviewed by their Department/Faculty before their application can be processed. Staff conducting the interview can obtain advice and resources from the Admissions team and the Student Support & Wellbeing Services team.

4.5. All additional conditions must be met to the university’s satisfaction before an applicant under the age of 16 will be admitted to the university.

Outreach and Widening Participation

4.6. When visiting schools and colleges, staff and representatives of the university should ensure they are aware of local safeguarding policies and procedures for the premises and the point of contact for raising safeguarding concerns within the setting.

4.7. University staff are not expected to take responsibility for students in other educational establishments. Students remain the responsibility of their regular staff members.

4.8. University staff should avoid situations where they might be left alone with students from other establishments, should ensure that the room/space is appropriate to the situation, and should always offer the student the choice to be accompanied by a person of their choosing.

4.9. Should it be necessary to report beyond the specific school, county/region Local Authority Designated Officers (LADO) in social services should be contacted (in England).

Students – Criminal Convictions

4.10. Offer holders are required to declare all relevant criminal convictions or conditional cautions, pending police investigations or charges on application. If an applicant is convicted of a relevant criminal offence after submission of their application, they must inform the university at the earliest opportunity.

---

6 KCL Criminal Convictions Declaration
4.11. If the programme or module requires contact with children or adults at risk, then applicants and students are required to declare all unprotected convictions and cautions, and a disclosure may be required from the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS). Such programmes would include for example, nursing, midwifery, dentistry, medicine and other courses involving work with children and adults at risk. Further advice can be sought from the university’s Admission Office.

4.12. Any information provided will be treated in line with university Policy and the General Data Protection Regulation.

4.13. Where a conviction is disclosed which indicates that the individual poses a risk to children or adults at risk, the university has the right to deny admission to a student.

5. Safeguarding in relation to International Projects, Research and Partnerships in Low- and Middle-Income Countries

5.1. The university recognises its need to comply with all six standard areas of the Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office’s Enhanced Due Diligence – Safeguarding for External Partners 2018 as well as the UK Research and Innovation’s Policy on Preventing Harm (Safeguarding) in Research and Innovation and guidance from the National Institute for Health Research, which supports compliance with safeguarding clauses in research contracts. The university adopts a risk-based approach and has created Procedure 4: International Protocol for Projects, Research and Partnerships in Low- and Middle-Income Countries to address these expectations.

5.2. The International Protocol for Projects, Research and Partnerships in Low- and Middle-income Countries covers:

- All staff contracted by KCL or subsidiary organisations working on international projects
- All staff and research associates undertaking research in low- and middle- income countries
- All volunteers engaged on these international projects under the direction of KCL
- Associated personnel engaged on work or visits related to our international projects, including but not limited to: consultants; contractors; programme visitors including journalists, celebrities and politicians.
5.3. In each setting they visit, where possible, university representatives should make themselves aware of the local safeguarding policies and procedures of the partner organisation, including the point of contact for raising concerns.

5.4. All staff and volunteers are required to sign the KGHP Code of Conduct for international activity, which includes Safeguarding obligations. By signing those agreements, team members agree to the Code of Conduct in addition to other codes specific to individual projects.

5.5. Students on placements, programmes of study or electives in low or middle-income countries should familiarise themselves with Procedure 4: International Protocol and seek further support from their Faculty where necessary.

6. Safeguarding – Other Groups

6.1. Where children are present on the university estate or premises used by the university, they remain the responsibility of their parent/guardian, teachers or organiser of the activity, unless they are enrolled as students, or are otherwise involved in a university-managed activity, such as, research.

Working with Vulnerable Groups in Research

6.2. All research activities undertaken by staff and students involving human subjects are undertaken in a way that safeguards the dignity, rights, health, safety, and privacy of those involved.

6.3. Ethical clearance is required for all primary data collection involving human participants and certain types of research involving pre-existing human data/tissues. For all research involving children and young people, please refer to the College Research Ethics Committee (CREC) Guidance document.

6.4. All research involving vulnerable groups, including those in low or middle-income countries, must be approved by one of the CREC sub-committees and must comply with the university’s Research Ethics Guidelines, the requirements of the Concordat to support Research Integrity as outlined in the university’s statement and all relevant research governance requirements.
Safeguarding staff who fall into the vulnerable group category

6.5. It is the general policy of the university to ensure that all employees who may be potentially vulnerable (e.g. victim survivors of violence or abuse; or individuals with a mental health diagnosis such that capacity is diminished) are given an appropriate level of support in our working environment.

6.6. Any employee who considers that they themselves may be an adult at risk, can seek support from line management or from their HR People Partner. The staff member may also seek additional help and guidance from their trade union. These sources of support are available equally to any member of staff who faces allegations of inappropriate behaviour, abuse and/or neglect.

6.7. Any staff member who considers that they have been subject to inappropriate behaviour or abuse will also have access to the Dignity at King’s – Bullying & Harassment Policy and can seek additional guidance on the Health and Wellbeing, HR Portal, Employee Assistance Programme, Equality, Diversity & Inclusion and It Stops Here webpages.

7. Safeguarding in relation to Staff

Recruitment and selection of staff and volunteers, including criminal convictions

7.1. The university will obtain appropriate DBS certificates for all staff or volunteers working in ‘regulated activity’. The level of DBS check (basic, standard or enhanced) will be applied according to the requirements of the role. The university will evaluate information about an individual’s criminal record, and make sensible, fair and consistent judgements about whether the individual is safe to engage (or remain engaged) in the employment, role or office. Please note: Repeat checks must be carried out every three years. Further information can be found in the HR DBS Policy.

7.2. The Human Resources Directorate is responsible for maintaining dedicated procedures for ensuring that relevant staff have the appropriate level of DBS check in place.

7.3. Due to the nature of some university activities, such as King’s Global Health Partnership Projects, and teaching students under the age of 18 in King’s Foundations, additional

7 A definition of ‘regulated activity’ can be found in the Safeguarding Glossary
8 KCL DBS Policy recruitment processes are used to ensure stringent safeguarding measures are deployed. These conditions include, but are not limited to:

- including references to safeguarding procedures on recruitment documents;
- reference requests that include enquiry about suitability to work with under 18s;
- police or similar disclosure checks where available;
- ensuring all team members sign up to codes of conduct as part of their onboarding;
- Not allowing unsupervised activity with students under the age of 18 if a DBS check is delayed.

7.4. Many staff and volunteers are engaged in roles that are not ‘regulated activity’ yet are involved in activities that may also involve children or adults at risk. All staff are expected to follow the code of practice and maintain standards of conduct befitting those who are role models and influential figures in the lives of others. A Code of Practice is available on the Personal tutor intranet pages.

7.5. The university reserves the right, in accordance with its employment procedures, to suspend and/or dismiss staff members from employment or from undertaking a specific role with respect to that employment. This may be in circumstances where the individual acquires or extends a relevant criminal record, or where they have withheld information about their criminal records at the point of employment. Hiring managers should seek advice from the relevant HR People Partner for further advice where necessary.

7.6. Disciplinary action may also be taken against staff, in accordance with the university’s employment procedures for a failure to comply with the requirement to declare criminal convictions.

Training

7.7. Safeguarding responsibilities are part of the university’s recruitment and induction processes for all staff.

7.8. In addition:

- All Safeguarding officers as well as departmental staff who are likely to specifically work with Children or Young People (for example, the Widening Participation team and staff from King’s Foundations, will be subject to Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks and will receive enhanced Child Protection training including information on recognising abuse. Further guidance can also be found in the Safeguarding Procedures and the Resources section of the KCL Safeguarding webpages.

• Designated Safeguarding Officers are recommended to attend NSPCC training.
• Personal tutors are provided with an online resource, which is useful for all student-facing staff, to enable skilful referral to internal specialist support for students. This includes clear guidance on how to follow the Student of Concern Procedure. Personal tutoring is also supported by a Senior Tutor Network and face-to-face training sessions.
• Staff at King’s College London will also receive localised briefings delivered by their local Designated Safeguarding Officer to help them fulfil their safeguarding responsibilities, particularly in those areas that have frequent contact with under-18-year olds.
• Students working to support activities with children (including young people) and adults at risk, for example as university ambassadors, will receive training in safeguarding responsibilities and good practice.
• Any member of the university who will be planning activities with/for children or adults at risk is required to undertake appropriate training. Staff members should contact their Designated Safeguarding Officer or the appropriate Lead Safeguarding Officer in the first instance.
• Staff can access guidance on good practice, which includes advice on appropriate behaviour and interaction with students under the age of 18; spotting the signs and symptoms of abuse; and guidance on Safeguarding in an online environment can be found in the Safeguarding procedures and in the Resources section of the KCL Safeguarding webpages.

8. Raising Concerns

8.1. It is a requirement that staff report any safeguarding-related concern that they have about any individual connected with the university. All reports must be made to the appropriate person as quickly as possible and within 24 hours. Refer to Procedure 3 - Reporting a Safeguarding Concern flowchart.

8.2. The Student of Concern (SOC) Procedure is the main route of referral for any safeguarding concern about a student. The indicators of abuse or harm or the risk of being drawn into terrorism can be very difficult to recognise and it is not a staff member’s responsibility to decide whether a child or adult at risk has been abused or harmed or subjected to abuse or harm, but only to raise concerns that they may have.

8.3. Advice on how to report a safeguarding concern of an individual who is not part of the student or staff community at the university, along with the Safeguarding Incident Report Form, can be found in Procedure 7: Reporting (Guidance for Staff).

8.4. All reports will be escalated to the College Council, as Trustees of the university.

9. Allegations

9.1. Whistleblowing is an important aspect of a safeguarded institution (whereby staff, students and volunteers are encouraged to share genuine concerns about a colleague’s behaviour, in confidence, with the relevant Lead Safeguarding Officer). Procedure 7 on Reporting (Guidance for Staff) outlines the steps that are taken when an allegation is made, how the report will be assessed and the management of the case. In accordance with legislation and its policy, the university will support and protect the individuals who, in good faith and without malicious intent, report suspicions of abuse or concerns about colleagues and their actions. Staff who want access to free confidential advice about whistleblowing can contact Protect (formerly Public Concern at Work).

9.2. Allegations against members of staff will be considered in accordance with the university’s Disciplinary Procedure. In the case of serious allegations, initial duties of the staff member may be curtailed while an investigation is underway.

9.3. Allegations against students will be considered in accordance with the university’s relevant student conduct regulations.

9.4. The university recognises its duty of care to victims and survivors and will provide appropriate support to those individuals during and following the outcome of the investigation.

9.5. It will also seek to manage and minimise the stress inherent in circumstances where an allegation is made against a member of staff, student or volunteer. It is essential that any allegation of abuse made against a member of staff, student or volunteer is dealt with fairly, quickly and consistently, in a way that provides effective protection for the child/adult at risk, and at the same time supports the person who is the subject of the allegation.

9.6. Where a crime is suspected of being committed, the university will involve the police.

Reporting to Statutory Bodies and Other Organisations

9.7. In line with the Charity Commission Guidance on Reporting Serious Incidents, the university has a duty to report incidents of abuse or mistreatment of vulnerable beneficiaries to the Charity Commission. As the university is an exempt charity, these reports must be made in the first instance to the university’s principal regulator. The principal regulator for the university is the Office for Students.

9.8. The Office of Students and any funder or accreditor of a King’s College London project (e.g. Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office, the British Council, and other UK government bodies) will be notified if there has been any safeguarding allegation or any breach of policies that puts beneficiaries at risk as well as an explanation of next steps.

9.9. The UK local authorities, including the police, will be notified if there are any incidences of child abuse, wherever it takes place.

10. Non-Compliance with the Safeguarding Policy

10.1. The university expects all university staff, students, and associated personnel representing the university or who contribute to its activities to follow the guidance on safeguarding and to promote the welfare of children and adults at risk. Failure to follow this guidance and procedures may not necessarily constitute abuse, but it is nonetheless a matter of concern for the university and may lead to disciplinary action.

10.2. If an individual is concerned that another member of the King’s community is not following the guidance and procedures, they should contact their own project coordinator, line manager, local Designated Safeguarding Officer or the Lead Safeguarding Officer of the appropriate area. See Procedure 1 for further information.

11. Information Sharing and Confidentiality
11.1. In general, information should only be shared with the consent of the subject of the information. However, in some circumstances, it will not be appropriate to seek consent before sharing information with others and/or information can be shared where consent has been refused. For example:

- Emergency or life-threatening situations, such as, those which place the child, an adult or others at increased risk of Significant Harm; or
- Undermine the prevention, detection or prosecution of a serious crime (i.e. any crime which causes or is likely to cause significant harm to a child or to an adult) including where seeking consent might lead to interference with any potential investigation.

11.2. If an individual refuses intervention to support them with a safeguarding concern, their wishes should be respected. However, there are circumstances where this request can reasonably be overridden, including:

- the individual lacks the mental capacity to make that decision – this must be properly explored and recorded in line with the Mental Capacity Act;
- other people are, or may be, at risk, including children. This is particularly pertinent when staff are dealing with disclosures about domestic abuse and violence;
- sharing the information could prevent a crime;
- the alleged abuser has care and support needs and may also be at risk;
- a serious crime has been committed;
- staff are implicated; or
- the person has the mental capacity to make that decision, but they may be under duress or being coerced.

11.3. Further information and advice on sharing information within a safeguarding context can be found in the Information Sharing: Advice for Practitioners providing Safeguarding Services. More information on how the university manages personal data can be found in the KCL Core Privacy Notice and on the KCL Information Compliance team’s intranet pages.

12. Policy Implementation and Review

12.1. It is the responsibility of the Safeguarding Oversight Group to review this policy annually. All versions will be dated, and approved versions signed by the Co-Chairs of the Safeguarding Oversight Group.
12.2. The university will further develop the policy where necessary in line with the changes in legislation and best practice guidance and following internal review of the effectiveness of existing procedures.

12.3. Any local procedures and codes of practice developed by a specific research group, Department, Faculty or Service will be subject to approval by the Safeguarding Oversight Group.
