

The Military in Politics in Brazil Conference 2021
27th and 28th May 2021
King's Brazil Institute
King's College London

Day 1: Thursday 27th May 2021

16:00-16:20	Opening
16:20-17:05	Keynote presentation by Professor Risa Brookes, University of Marquette.
17:05-17:15	Break
17:15-18:00	Panel 1A- Historical Perspectives: The Impacts and Legacies of WWII. Chair: Charlotte Bascaule Discussant: Vinicius Mariano de Carvalho Speakers: Rafael Bonato, Institute Meira Mattos “Analysis of the political role of the Brazilian Army during the first Vargas administration (1930-1945).” Dennison de Oliveira, Federal University of Paraná “The Brazilian Army, nation building and the Vargas dictatorship (1937-1945).” Francisco Cesar Alves Ferraz, State University of Londrina “The political consequences of Brazilian participation in the Second World War: the overthrow of Getúlio Vargas as an exemplary case.” Jorel Lemes, Pontifical Catholic University of Minas Gerais “A walk-on part in the War: the sidelining of the Italian Campaign and its impact on the historiography of the FEB and their Allies.” Panel 1B - Historical Perspectives: Military Projects for State and Society. Chair: Anna Grimaldi Discussant: Anthony Pereira Speakers: Alessandra Beber Castilho, King's College London and University of São Paulo

	“Diplomats and soldiers in Cold War Brazil: Brazilian diplomats at the Superior War College (1949-1964).” Benjamin Correa, Open University of Portugal “Citizen-Soldier: Positivism as a military doctrine in the Brazilian Army and its influence in 1964.” Enio Viterbo Martins, University of Lisbon “Homeland Security by the Brazilian military: are political opponents internal enemies?” Leandro Liberali, Federal University of Rio de Janeiro “Notes on the Geisel government: the bases of the political distension of the Brazilian civil-military dictatorship.”
18:00-18:10	Break
18:10 - 19:10	Panel 2: Critical Approaches to Understanding the Military. Chair: Anaís Passos Discussant: Eduardo Svartman Speakers: Tabita Marquete Andrade, Federal University of Pampa “Women's participation in the armed forces and civilian positions: a gender perspective.” Marcelo Bordin, University Centre Curitiba “The hypermilitarization of politics in Brazil.” Ned Littlefield, University of Wisconsin-Madison “Delegitimise to demilitarise? Civilian control of the Federal Intervention in Rio de Janeiro.” Plínio Cardoso dos Santos, Leiden University “Military involvement in electoral disputes as a factor of political instability in Brazil.”
19:00-19:15	Closing Remarks

16:00-16:20

Opening

16:20-17:05

Panel 3A:
Conceptualising the Brazilian Military in the Social Imaginary.

Chair: Ana Canto

Discussant: Kieran Mitton

Speakers:

Hermes de Andrade Júnior, University of Vigo (Doctorate CREA S2i), Spain and Research Center of the Military University Institute (CIDIUM / IUM), Portugal.

“The Anthropocene and civil-military relations in the Brazilian Amazon.”

Claudete de Castro Silva Vitte & Gustavo Glodes Blum, State University of Campinas

“Heirs of a(n) (e)state: Brazilian territorial integrity in selected works that may influence recent military-political involvement in Brazil.”

Leandro Gomes Moreira Cruz, Federal University of Fronteira Sul

“The RADAM Project: technoscience, environment and the Brazilian dictatorship (1964-1975).”

Adriane Piovezan, ABEC - Brazilian Association of Cemeteries Studies

“The dead in armed conflicts and military memory in Brazil (1935-2020).”

Panel 3B: Conceptualising the Brazilian Military in the Social Imaginary.

Chair: Hannah Brown

Discussant: Eleonora Natale

Speakers:

Bruno de Seixas Carvalho, Brazilian Naval War College

“Civil-Military relations in the Brazilian Navy: ontological security and self-identity.”

Carlos Eduardo Pereira Viana, Federal Fluminense University

“Reaffirming identities: demands for recognition and 'respect' in the Civil Guard and Municipal Civil Guard.”

Caio Marcondes Ribeiro Barbosa, University of São Paulo

“The military as a moderating power: a study with Bolsonaro supporters in São Paulo.”

Rosa Ricoy, University of Vigo

“The military, gender and politics: a political and historical review between Brazil and Spain.”

17:05-17:15	Break
17:15-18:00	Panel 4 - Military Institutions, Domestic and Foreign Policy. Chair: Rafael Duarte Villa Discussant: Laura Ferreira-Pereira Speakers: Elizabeth Cancelli, Thiago Amado, Letícia Maria de Alcantara Nogueira, University of São Paulo “To plan, to develop and to interfere: the military and their modernization strategies in Brazil.” Peterson Ferreira da Silva, Brazilian War College and Augusto Teixeira Júnior, Federal University of Paraíba “The relationship between defence policy, defence budget and force structure in contemporary Brazil.” Mariana Kalil, Brazilian War College, Thiago Rodrigues, Fluminense National University, and Maíra Fedatto, Kids Operating Room “Militarisation without securitisation: democratic backsliding and the military management of the COVID-19 crisis in Brazil.” Maíra Siman Gomes, Manuela Trindade Viana and Victoria Santos, Pontifical University of Rio de Janeiro “Pandemic expertise: the managerial face of the Brazilian military in COVID-19 operations and its effects on the civil-military divide.” Letícia Tostes Ortega, University of Bern “Defining Brazilian nuclear intermestic policy: the role of the military.”
18:00-18:10	Break
18:10 - 19:00	Breakout Rooms Room 1: Historical Perspectives I & II: The Impacts and Legacies of WWII and Military Projects for State and Society Room 2: Critical Approaches to Understanding the Military Room 3: Conceptualising the Brazilian Military in the Social Imaginary I & II Room 4: Military Institutions, Domestic and Foreign Policy
19:00-19:15	Closing Remarks