

Masterclass: Brexit, Covid and the future of Britain

Join us for a one-day masterclass led by Professor Anand Menon. The course will provide a unique insight into Brexit, including why it happened, what its potential implications might be, and how the Covid-19 crisis might affect the UK's future relationship with the EU. The course will bring together academics and policymakers to discuss and debate a range of issues, such as:

Apply online ►

- How the referendum was won and lost
- What the relationship between the UK and EU has been like historically, and how it might develop in the future
- The implications of Brexit for the British state
- What the economic impacts of Brexit might be going forward

Speakers

Anand Menon, Professor of European Politics and Foreign Affairs at King's College London, and Director of the UK in a Changing Europe

Sir Jonathan Faull, Chair of European Public Affairs at Brunswick, and formerly the most senior British official at the European Commission

Matthew Elliott, political strategist and former Chief Executive of the Vote Leave campaign

Jill Rutter, Senior Research Fellow at the UK in a Changing Europe, and former senior civil servant

Nicole Sykes, Head of EU Negotiations for the Confederation of British Industry

Jonathan Portes, Professor of Economics and Public Policy at King's College London, and former Chief Economist at the Cabinet Office and Department for Work and Pensions

What will you get out of it: The course will provide unique insights into one of the most momentous periods in British politics and its implications going forward. Brexit and Covid-19 will shape the country's future for many years to come, and an understanding of what has happened and what it might mean will be essential for professionals from a wide variety of fields.

Entry requirements: Interest and experience working in British and EU politics.

Course structure: The course will be taught in a classroom setting. It will involve a mixture of panel discussions, debates, talks and Q&As, with the use of an interactive learning tool and group work.

Fee: £750, including all tuition, materials, lunch and refreshments and closing drinks (10% discount for KCL staff, students & early registrations).