

European Union Law

Summer Short Course | 5 – 14 June 2023

Advance your understanding of EU Law with experts in academia and practice.

About the course

The European Union Law Summer Short Course is hosted by the Centre of European Law. The course is highly regarded for teaching excellence and research expertise. Delivered in person across eight days of full-time study, the course offers an intensive programme of lectures and interactive workshops led by experts in academia and practice. Participants will gain an advanced understanding of the central concepts, methods and debates in current EU Law, and focused study in areas such as trade relations and international conflict. Particular attention will be given to international conflict in Ukraine and separation from the EU, with Brexit as case study. Participants will develop the skills required to solve EU legal problems; understand the legal implications of EU actions in areas of defence or trade relations with the UK; be able to search for and interpret data on EU Law as required across legal practice.

The short course programme may be subject to minor changes.

Location

All lectures are held in person at Bush House, King's College London

Key features:

- access to student resources, including Maughan Library access for the duration of the course.
- networking events organised by the Centre of European Law, including two receptions and a formal dinner within King's Venues.

The programme

Monday 5 June	EU Constitutional Law I
09.30 – 10.00	Registration and arrivals reception
10.00 – 12.00	The EU Institutional Structure – Alexander Turk, King’s College London
13.30 – 14.30	Maughan Library Tour
15.00 – 17.00	The EU Constitution and the Rule of Law Backsliding – Darren Harvey, King’s College London
17.00 – 20.00	Welcome reception

Tuesday 6 June	EU Constitutional Law II
10.00 – 12.30	Integration through Law: the EU and its Court of Justice – Sir Francis Jacobs, King’s College London
14.00 – 16.30	Law and the activities of the European Commission: Advice; Legality; Litigation – Leo Flynn, European Commission

Wednesday 7 June	EU and its Internal Market I
10.00 – 12.30	Introduction to the Internal Market – Oana Stefan, King’s College London
14.00 – 16.30	The Digital Market – Mateja Durovic, King’s College London

Thursday 8 June	EU and its Internal Market II
10.00 – 12.30	The Green Internal Market – Isidora Maletic, King’s College London
13.30 – 15.30	EU Competition Law – Alison Jones, King’s College London

Friday 9 June	The State and the Market
10.00 – 12.30	State Aid – Andrea Biondi, King’s College London
13.30 – 15.30	EU Procurement Law – Michael Bowsher KC, Monckton Chambers
16.00 – 18.00	Trade after Brexit – Robin Griffith, Clifford Chance

Monday 12 June	Rights
10.00 – 12.30	European Human Rights and Anti-discrimination Law – Robert Wintemute, King’s College London
14.00 – 16.30	What about ‘The Others’: EU Immigration Law – Paul James Cardwell, King’s College London
19.00	Formal Dinner

Tuesday 13 June	The External Dimension
10.00 – 12.30	EU External Relations – An Introduction – Anne Thies, University of Glasgow
13.30 – 16.00	EU Law in the UK after Brexit – Kieron Beal KC, Blackstone Chambers

Wednesday 14 June	Eu Law in Times of War
10.00 – 12.30	EU Law in Times of War – Roman Petrov, National University of Kyiv-Mohyla
14.00 – 16.30	EU Economic Sanctions – Takis Tridimas, King’s College London
17.00 – 20.00	Closing reception

About the Centre of European Law at King's

The Centre of European Law (CEL) was founded in 1974. One of the oldest research centres of its kind, CEL is recognised internationally as a research leader in European Law – a role that is even more crucial in the current political climate. The work of the Centre focuses on the relationships between domestic and European laws, the dialogue between courts, and external relations concerning trade. The Centre is actively engaged with society and external stakeholders, such as government, NGOs, the practising profession, and policy makers.

Find out more and apply

kcl.ac.uk/short-courses/european-union-law-3

The Dickson Poon School of Law

King's College London
Somerset House East Wing
Strand Campus
Strand
London WC2R 2LS

+44 (0)20 20 7848 3202

kcl.ac.uk/law