Paying your application fee:

The university charges an application fee for your chosen programme. This fee is for the assessment of your academic ability to undertake the course. Before submitting your application please ensure you have checked the minimum entry requirements specified in our online prospectus. Please note that meeting, or indeed exceeding the entry requirements does not in any way guarantee that an offer of a place will be made.

- You should pay your application fee by debit or credit card – the amount of the fee is indicated in the table above.
- All application fees are non-refundable, irrespective of the outcome of decision on the application.
- Payments are for each application you make, rather than per person; therefore if you choose to apply to two programmes which both require a payment, you must make both payments.
- This application fee is separate from any future deposit payment you may be asked to make if you receive an offer.

How to pay:

King's College London offers this card payment service to enable you to make payment of the application fee securely, quickly and easily.

The Service is hosted by an external provider called Realex on a secure system so King's College London will not receive any of your card details. King's College London will accept payments from MasterCard, Maestro and Visa (including Visa Debit and Electron). We are unable to accept American Express.

Once your application has been submitted, you will receive a response from our Summer Programmes Admissions team within 7 working days, as long as you have submitted a completed application and we do not have to request any additional documents.
